Chapter 4

Cohesion, organisation and presentation

Introduction

This chapter builds on the work done in Year 5. The early parts of this chapter cover cohesive devices. Later parts deal with layout and organisational devices that help to structure the children’s writing. For further practice, please see the ‘Cohesion, organisation and presentation’ section of the Year 6 workbook.

Poster notes

Cohesive devices (page 79)
This poster reminds the children of the cohesive devices that they have covered in Year 5. Determiners, conjunctions, adverbs, pronouns, adverbials, synonyms and ellipsis are shown as building blocks that work in conjunction to make writing more cohesive. Use the poster as a starting point to discuss what each type of cohesive device does. The children could work in pairs to give examples for each type.

Give your writing structure (page 80)
This poster shows a range of presentational and structural devices that the children can use to add cohesion to their writing. Paragraphs, titles, text boxes, columns, subheadings, bullet points, bold text and underlining are represented as building blocks to reflect their interlocking nature. Use the poster as a starting point for exploring how each could be used. Lead the children through a discussion of what each device looks like and what it does. Encourage them to find examples of each one from their reading.

Vocabulary

Children should already know:
adverbial, ambiguity, cohesion, determiner, paragraph

In Year 6 children need to know:
bullet point, ellipsis
Cohesive devices are words used to show how the different parts of a text fit together.

They will make your writing clear, help it flow and make it interesting.

Adverbials will make it even more interesting. Words such as before, then and firstly tell us when, where and how something happened.

Make your writing cohesive by using these.

Linking ideas across paragraphs

Objective

Link ideas across paragraphs using cohesive devices.

Background knowledge

The activities in this section build upon the work done in Year 5. It is expected that the children will know about the use of pronouns, adverbs, adverbials of frequency, place, manner and time, conjunctions, synonyms, determiners and ellipsis.

Pronouns replace nouns; adverbs modify verbs, adjectives and even other adverbs; adverbials are similar to adverbs but they have more detail in them; conjunctions link clauses and can be either coordinating or subordinating; synonyms are words that have similar meanings; determiners are placed before nouns and any modifiers; ellipsis can mean the three ellipsis points to show omission but in the Programme of Study it refers specifically to the omission of words that are expected, predictable or superfluous.

The children need to think clearly about what cohesion means and how they can achieve it.

Further ideas

- Tennis links: Give the children a list of the different types of cohesive devices. In pairs, the children take it in turns to ‘serve’ a cohesive device to their partners. The partner has to give an example of the device, for example: Adverbial of time – Yesterday morning. If the partner is correct within ten seconds, they win a point and serve back. The first to five points is the winner.

- Making links: This is a continuation game. In groups of four, the children try to continue a story using a range of adverbials. Give the children an opening sentence, such as: Ida had been waiting for her friend, Rona, for a long time. Each person in the group continue the story in turn. As they do, they write it down. Allow five minutes and then listen to the new stories. Check with the rest of the class that each group has only used adverbials and count the number they have used.

- Class display: On a display board, write down the different types of cohesive devices. Ask the children to add examples of them to the display.

- It took place then: Give the children a range of events and times, such as: Evie went to the market at 12 o’clock. Ask them to rewrite the statements using adverbials of time, such as ‘before’. They are not allowed to use the time from the statement you have given them. For example: Evie went to the market just before lunch.

Activities

- Photocopiable page 82 ‘The missing link’
  In this activity, the children are asked to identify and match words and phrases with their correct device. Two types of device are omitted. The children will need to identify these and write new labels for them. The missing devices are synonyms and ellipsis.

- Photocopiable page 83 ‘Adverbial links across paragraphs’
  The children are presented with three images that represent the action in three consecutive paragraphs of a short story. Invite the children to describe what is happening in each image. Then ask them to link the images by suggesting appropriate adverbials of time, place and frequency.

- Photocopiable page 84 ‘Go with the flow’
  The children are given three pieces of writing. Each piece contains the end of one paragraph and the second sentence of the next paragraph. They have to choose three different types of link and insert them into the appropriate places. They also have to identify the links they have used. This activity will assess their understanding of linking ideas across paragraphs by using cohesive devices.

Adverbial links across paragraphs

The images below tell a short story. Each image represents one paragraph of the story.

Image 2

In the boxes below, write what you think is happening in each picture.

1.

2.

3.

The events in the story need to be linked together so that the paragraphs have cohesion. In the boxes below, write links to begin the paragraphs for images 2 and 3 using the appropriate adverbials. One has been done for you as an example.

Zoe has invented a paragraph machine. Unfortunately, it is not working properly. It is missing out cohesive devices. She needs to use some words from her device boxes to complete the paragraphs.

Help Zoe to complete the paragraphs by choosing appropriate words or phrases from the boxes. You need to use three different devices in each paragraph and you cannot use the same words or phrases twice.
