

For my mum, who writes lovely letters.

First published in 2016 by Alison Green Books
An imprint of Scholastic Children's Books
Euston House, 24 Eversholt Street, London NW1 1DB
A division of Scholastic Ltd
www.scholastic.co.uk
London – New York – Toronto – Sydney – Auckland
Mexico City – New Delhi – Hong Kong

Copyright © 2016 Sharon Rentta

HB ISBN: 978 1407162 28 7

PB ISBN: 978 1407162 54 6

1 3 5 7 9 8 6 4 2

The moral rights of Sharon Rentta have been asserted.

Papers used by Scholastic Children's Books are made from wood grown in sustainable forests.

A day at the

Animal Post Office

Sharon
Rentta

ALISON
GREEN
BOOKS

Jack is sending an email to his best friend, Polly.
Polly has gone to live at the North Pole,
which is a seriously long way away.

Jack really misses her.

Jack's dad says he should send Polly a letter. Dad's a postman himself, so he knows all about letters, and how they travel all around the world.

Jack thinks that's a brilliant idea. He's going to need his best paints and felt pens for this.

First he paints Polly a totally fantastic picture.

Then he writes her an utterly amazing letter.
It takes a lot of thinking.

He stuffs it in an envelope and writes Polly's address on it nice and clearly.

Then he licks the glue to make it stick.
It tastes pretty nasty.

He just needs a stamp now, and that means a trip to the Post Office.
It's hard to make dads run fast enough, even when there are urgent letters to send.

There's often a bit of a queue at the Post Office.

