

True or False

Do you know absolutely everything about LEGO® bricks?

Test your knowledge with our true or false quiz.

1	There are 12 ways to combine two 2x4 LEGO bricks	True	False
2	There were more than 730,000,000 LEGO tires produced in 2016 , making the LEGO Group one of the world's biggest tire manufacturers	True	False
3	It is estimated there are 99 LEGO bricks for every person the world	True	False
4	LEGO flowers bloom most commonly in the colour red	True	False
5	The unique LEGO minifigure design has not changed since it was launched in 1978	True	False
6	A LEGO model of the space shuttle Discovery has been on the real NASA space shuttle Discovery	True	False
7	The car door handles on the MINI Cooper (set 10242) from 2014 are more usually used as croissants	True	False
8	Until 1983, there were only two minifigure haircuts: pigtails and side parting	True	False
9	LEGO Group founder Ole Kirk Kristiansen came up with the LEGO name by combining the Danish words "leg godt" meaning "build high"	True	False
10	LEGO minifigures have been enjoying hot-dog sausages since 1998, but they didn't get a bun to go with them until 2016!	True	False

Answers: 1. False – it's actually 24. See if you can do them all! 2. True 3. False – there are thought to be 102 bricks per person 4. True 5. True 6. True – it travelled 5,304,140 miles (8,536,186km) in 2010 while on board. 7. False – they are used for minifigure ice skates. 8. True - There have been more than 200 styles since. 9. False – it means 'Play well' 10. True

Activity taken from
*Absolutely Everything
You Need To Know*